OVERVIEW

Caley is an experienced commercial litigator and advocate. While his practice encompasses a broad range of commercial disputes, in litigation and arbitration, both on and offshore, he has particular expertise in civil fraud, company and insolvency matters.

He has acted in many of the most high profile commercial cases to have come before the Courts in recent years including acting for several years in the MultiBank litigation, fraud claims spanning three jurisdictions and involving multiple appearances in the Court of Appeal and the Eastern Caribbean Court of Appeal, the long-running Deripaska v Chernukin dispute, a multi-week fraudulent trading trial in the Chancery Division in Transworld Payment Solutions (UK) Ltd (in liquidation) and acting for one of the principal defendants in the London Capital & Finance litigation, arising out of the notorious mini-bond scandal.

Caley has extensive experience acting as sole counsel, in a number of multi-week trials in the High Court, and as part of a team: he was junior counsel for the claimant for a number of years in BTA v Ablyazov.

He has a notable offshore practice, having been instructed on disputes in the BVI, Jersey, the Cayman Islands, the DIFC and ADGM. He acted for several years on Nest Investments v Deloitte, which remains one of the largest fraud cases to have been brought in the DIFC Court.

Caley is a contributor to Civil Fraud: Law, Practice and Procedure, the leading text on civil fraud, and to the insolvency sections of LexisNexis' Civil Court Service.

EXPERTISE

COMMERCIAL LITIGATION & ARBITRATION

Caley has extensive experience of all interlocutory matters, with particular experience of: issues surrounding challenges to jurisdiction; a wide range of applications relating to obtaining disclosure and privilege; applications concerning the use of document; and unless orders and other sanctions for non-compliance.

He has significant trial experience, acting as sole and junior Counsel in several multi-week trials in the Chancery Division and Commercial Court in recent years.

Caley undertakes a substantial amount of arbitration work involving a range of different arbitration rules and institutions. He has recently been acting on a number of substantial arbitrations including a dispute relating to an Eastern European bank, a dispute with a Ukrainian high net worth individual, and a bribery claim relating to the aviation industry.
